Supreme Court Handed Down Four Opinions On Tuesday.

WAS A MATTER OF PLEADINGS

Court Approves of Practice of Allowing Additional Pleadings During Vacation.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) STAUNTON, VA., Sept. 27 .- Upon Its adjournment Tuesday, the Supreme Court Fall opening, but ours is just as fine and full and many colored. of Appeals handed down four opinions, No more cases will be decided now by the court until it meets in Richmond in November next.

Risque's administrator vs. Chesapeake and Ohio Rallway Company, Judge Harrison handed down an opinion af-firming the judgment of Rockingham Circult Court, in favor of the rallway company upon its demurrer to the evidence. In a collision at the crossing of the In a collision at the crossing of the track of the Alleghany Ore and Iron Company and the main line of the Chesapeake and Ohio, near Buena Vista, Risquo, the engineer of the Ore and Iron Company was fatally injured, and his administrator brought suit against the Chesapeake and Ohio for damages. The evidence showed that while making a flying switch on the yard of the Ore and Iron Company, Risque backed his engine upon the main line of the C. and O. with his back to the track, so that he could not see, at a time when he knew a passenger train was due at Fuena Vista and could not reach there except by passing over the crossing upon which he was backing his engine. The tender came into collision with the pussenger train which was passing, and Risque received the injuries from which he died. The court holds that this can only be characterized as reckless, if not wanton, negligence, and even if the C. and O. Rallway, Co. was guilty of the negligence of Risque, would preclude a recovery.

It is also held that the court proptrack of the Alleghany Ore and Iron Conductor John T. Gaines, of the Atlantic and Daaville Railroad, yesterday left in charge of the railway agent here a well dressed lad, presumably about, six years of age, with instructions to look after the little fellow pending the arrival of his friends. covery.

It is also held that the court proporly sustained the demurer to certain counts in the declaration which charged the Chesapeake and Ohlo with negligence in furnishing the Ore and Iron Company with cars without, or with, unsound, butter.

manny," He had with him a bundle contining a change of clothing, a silver dollar and a copper cent.

He says that when he gets hungry he is going to spend the cent, but that he must save the dollar for his mother. His childish prattle would lead to the belief that his mother is in poor circumstances. He said that his father's name is Peter Gray, and that himself and a sister named Penri have been living for some days in Richmond, in a house where there are a lot of fightling children every day, who return to their "mannios" at night. He alleges that the woman who runs the house in Richmond is named Williams. His mother, he said, was at a place called Abburtun, with a brother larger than himself named "Ebb." Three other brothers, he said, had gone away somewhere and would not send his mother any money. He insisted that he must take his money to his "manning" immediately; that he knew she wanted some bread.

Matter of Pleadings.

The decision in Norfolk and Western Railway Company vs. Coffey, from Rockingham Circuit Court, relates entirely to the matter of pleadings. The court approves of the pructice of allowing additional pleadings to be filed in vacation, after a case has been matured for trial at rules and docketed, saying that though there is no statutory sanction for such a practice, yet, subject to proper limitations, it is not only unobjectionable but tends to prevent surprise, and facilitates the proparation of cases for trial; but opposing counsel should always be given notice of application for leave to file such pleudings.

In the case under consideration it is said to be apparent that both court and counsel were taken by surprise at the reliance by defendant upon the statute of limitations, pleas of which had been filed by permission of court during vaccation, and that under the circumstances it would have been improper to have sustained that defense. It is held that the court should, of its own motion, have set aside the demurrer by defendant to the evidence and the award of damages thereon, and baving caused the issues to be made up on the pleas of the statute of limitations, ordered a new trial of the case. For error, therefore in disregarding the pleas, overwilling the demurrer and rendering judgment for the plaintiff, the judgment of the lower court is reversed and the cause remanded for a new trial. The opinion is by Judge Whittle.

A Life Estate.

Judge Harrison handed down the opinion of the court in Stout vs. Stout and others, from Augusta Circuit Court.

The controversy in this case was over a house and lot on Frederick Street, in the city of Staunton, in which Mirs. Kate R. N. Stout claimed a fee simple estate under the will of her husband. John W. Stout. It is held that Mrs. Stout's interest under husband's will had already bee determined by the Circuit Court of Augusta county, in May 1893, to be life estate in what remained after the payment of his debts and the cost of administration; and that its decree of December 6, 1894, ordering the cause to be stricken from the docket, 'with leave reserved to any party thereto to reinstate the same and seek any proper relief at the foot of his decree," was a final one, notwithstanding the last clause. There are but two ways known to law, it is said, by which this decree could be set aside; one by bill of review in the court which rendered it, and the other by appeal to the Supreme Court, and neither was resorted to within the time limited by staute.

chanan handed down the opinion, reversing the judgment of the lower court. In this case the court, in construing a deed under which R. S. Chark chains title to certain land in Rockingham county for which John E. Holler sought to obtain a grant, holds that the amount of land conveyed was not limited, by the reference made in the description to conveyances from certain original patentees, to so much as was actually covered by the old grant; but that such reference was only for the purpose of showing from what source the land was derived and as a help to trace the title.

The judgment of the Circuit Court in favor of the defendant upon the cuveat entered by Clark against the issuing of the grant to Roller, is therefore held to have been erroneous and the same is reversed and a new trial granted.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison more thoroughly poisons the blood than any other disease. Every part of the body is af-fected when the virus becomes intrenched in the circulation; red eruptions break-out on the skin, the mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the neck and groins swell, the hair falls out, copper-colored splotches appear on the body, etc.

I was afflicted with blood poison, and the best doctors did me no good, though I took their treatment faithfully. In fact I seemed to set worse all the while. I took almost every so-called blood remedy, but they did not seem to reach the discose, and had no effect whatever. I was disheartened, for it seemed that I would never be cured. At the advice of a friend I then took S. S. S. and began to improve. I continued the medicine, and it cured me completely.

Goo-Goo Eyes Defined.

Goo-Goo Eyes Defined.

HOUSTON, TEX., September 27.—Judge John Kirlicks, of the Corporation Court, has determined the legal meaning of the term "goo-goo yees," as used in the famous anti-firting ordinance of Houston. The opinion was delivered upon the conviction of John McPaul, charged with violation of the ordinance. The opinion follows:

"By the term "goo-goo eyes' is meant any confortion, unusual movement or any fixed unusual attitude of the eyes, providing the said contortion, unusual movement or unusual fixed attitude is made with the intent of attracting, alluring or conjuring the attention of any woman or female, as the said ordinance recites. It will be noted that such eyes, if made at an infant in arms, provided it is of the gentler sax is unlawful upon the streets of the city.

"The 'intent' is the point upon which the main construction must be placed. A stare is a 'goool-goo,' if it is committed with intent; a wink accompanied by intent is a 'goo-goo,' ilkewise the cocking of an eye, ogling, making wide eyes, all come within the broad sweep of the term 'goo-goo,' if accompanied by intent.

Be Examined to Wed. PHILADELPHIA, September 27. Homoconathic associations of Nobrask

Homocopathic associations of Nobrasica, Colorado and Michigan have resolved to ask their Legislatures to pass laws compelling applicants for marriage licenses to undergo physical and mental examinations before they are allowed to wed. Homocopaths in Philadelphia believe if such a law could be made practicable it would be an excellent thing; but they doubt that it could be enforced.

In this way the homocopaths hope to improve the human race by gradually eliminating the weak or unhealthy. The race, they say, would soon become hardy, and tuberculosis, cancer and other diseases would disappear.

EXPRESS MESSENGERS FIGHT WITH REVOLVERS

(By Associated Press.)

DECATUR, ILL., September 27.—John E. Ryun, of Chicago, Puelile express messenger on Wabash passenger train No. 13, and Edward Greene, also of Chicago, a former express messenger, fought with platels in Ryan's car to-day. Both were seriously wounded and may die.

Ouite Insulting. Mrs. Newport-Snobb: "What a vulgas nerson Mr. Oldskule is. So bourgeoise!" Mrs. Tondie-Tondie; "Yes? How does he show it?"

Mrs. Newport-Snobb: "By his questions. He was present at the Roxley Scadds' tenth anniversary of their wedding, and he actually asked them it they had any children."

Surprising. Subbubs: "I bought some chickens yesterday and started a poultry yard, and early this morning there were two colored men hanging around my place." Colonel South: "Yo' don't say, suh? And do yo' really hang 'em, up hyar, merely fo' stealin' chickens?"

Merely a Fat Man.

"I thought you said he was a big corporation lawyer."
"Not at all."
"I'm sure you told me he spont most of his time attending to a big corpora-tion." "Yes, his own corporation. He's for-ever eating and drinking."
